Health insurance: how to claim a refund of your medical expenses

This document will explain how you can claim a refund of your medical expenses at your basic health insurance (Partena, Christelijke Mutualiteit, Socialistische Mutualiteit, Liberale Mutualiteit, Neutraal Ziekenfonds,...) and from your SIP insurance (CHUBB).

As explained when you visited our welcome desk (or during our Teams meeting), your health insurance covers 70% of your medical expenses and SIP covers the remaining 30%.

This same logic applies when claiming a refund of your medical expenses.

How to claim your medical expenses from Partena?

When you go to the doctor, you will receive a receipt as shown below:
On this receipt, stick one of the stickers you received from your health insurance company (Partena, Liberale mutualiteit, ...). The colour of the sticker will be different for each company.

Below you will find an example of the sticker:

```

N° BEN: 001234567890

How to claim your medical expenses from CHUBB (= SIP insurance)?

When you have received the refund of your medical expenses from Partena (see above) or another health insurance company, you will have to log in on to your personal account on the website of your health insurance. In your personal account, you can download an overview of the reimbursements for which your health insurance company has refunded you.

Once you have this overview, you can go to this site: www.chubbclaims.be, log in & upload the copies of your doctor’s receipts and proof of reimbursements from your health insurance.

You will need the information that is mentioned on your SIP Certificate. This Certificate was sent to you by email (sender=marshconnect.europe@marsh.com) after you registered for the SIP insurance.

You can make a maximum of 9 claims in 1 session.

You will receive the refund within 2 weeks after the claim.
